Čeština expres 1 (level A1/1) is a reworked and expanded edition of the popular coursebook Czech Express 1. The publication forms the first part of a two-part elementary course in "survival Czech". The new form of the coursebook aims to meet the requirements of the Common European reference framework and is intended for beginners who want to reach the language level of A1 quickly. In seven practically oriented lessons Czech students can learn to understand and react in basic communicative situations (e.g. the topics of Getting to know each other, Directions, My family, When to meet etc.). The coursebook concentrates on mastering communication skills, first and foremost speaking and listening. Grammar is simplified as far as possible here and the student discovers it themselves through the means of texts and overview tables. Czech Express 1 consists of two parts, a monolingual coursebook written in Czech forms the first part, part of which is a new workbook. The second part is a supplement with vocabulary, grammatical tables and explanation in the student's first language (published in English, German and Russian versions, we are also preparing other languages). The texts are accompanied by a quantity of colour photographs and original illustrations including the popular cartoons. The set also includes an audio CD. You can find a free teacher's book on www.czechstepbystep.cz.

Czech Express 2 (level A1/2) is a reworked and expanded edition of the popular textbook Czech Express 2. Its publication forms the second part of a two-part basic course in "Survival Czech". The new form of the text book accommodates the requirements of the Common European Reference Framework and is intended for beginners who want to reach the A1 language level quickly. In seven practically focused lessons Czech learners can learn to orient themselves and react in basic communication situations (e.g. the topics of Houses and flats, At the doctor's, Visiting, Looking for work etc.). The textbook concentrates on mastering communication skills, mainly speaking and listening. Czech grammar is simplified as far as possible and the student discovers it for themselves through texts and overview tables. Czech Express 2 is composed of a monolingual textbook with text written in Czech and included a new and revised workbook, plus a Supplement with vocabulary, grammatical tables and explanations which helps the learner to get to know Czech in their first language (published in English, German and Russian versions, and we are preparing versions in other languages). The text in the textbook is complemented by a quantity of color photographs and original illustrations including the popular cartoons. The publication includes an audio CD. There is a free Teacher's book on www.czechstepbystep.cz.

The coursebook Czech Step by Step 2 is the second volume of the popular coursebook New Czech Step by Step/Tschechisch Schritt für Schritt. It contains, in 20 units, a review of grammatical areas which were presented in the previous volume and also significantly expands students' vocabulary and deepens their communicative competence. This coursebook systematically develops all four language skills: reading, listening, speaking and writing. Introductory texts focus on interesting topics relating to all areas of people's lives, while the closing section of each unit, called Everyday Czech, introduces daily life in the Czech Republic. After finishing the coursebook the students will have reached level B1 according to the official descriptions of the threshold levels - Czech as a foreign language. All of the text, including the explanation of grammatical features is in Czech. Included with the book are a Czech-English-German-Russian glossary, the Czech Grammar in a Nutshell 2 booklet and two audio CDs. More information on www.czechstepbystep.cz

Czech Grammar in a Nutshell is a four-page guide in a slightly larger than A4 format, printed on card laminated on both sides. This new, expanded version of 2010 is intended for beginners and intermediate students of Czech as a foreign language, although more advanced speakers might also use it to consult occasionally. It presents a simple overview of grammatical and lexical features which are important for successful everyday communication, which is always on hand. It does not imitate traditional mechanical grammar rules, but adapts the explanation to the perception and needs of foreign language speakers (for example, it uses colour coding to mark grammatical declensions of nouns, a simplified scheme to illustrate how to express direction and location etc.) It is available in the following language versions: English, Russian, German, Polish, Vietnamese, Ukrainian and Mongolian.

The New Czech Step by Step teaching programme of Czech for foreigners is intended for beginners to intermediates. Over twenty clearly structured units the students get to know the basics of the Czech language. This new, completely revised edition retains the basic principles of the older version, such as being divided into independent combinable sections, the system of references and above all the colour-coded genders in the grammar, which has met with an extraordinarily favourable response from both students and teachers. The textbook, which has been completely redesigned graphically, brings many more exercises, pictures (by Michaela Kukovičová), photographs and texts (including short introductory texts which assist the student in understanding a given grammatical feature). The titles of the units demonstrate the practical and communicative focus of the textbook (for example, My Family, Directions, In the Restaurant, Free Time, Finding your way, Communicating). Each unit comes with six pages of exercises and activities in the illustrated workbook and audio CD.

Almost every teacher of Czech for foreigners must, at some time, have had to deal with the question of what to read with students who already speak Czech but still can't manage without a dictionary and the help of a teacher. Now the first volume of the forthcoming series Adapted Czech Texts, which features the Malá Strana Stories by the famous Czech author, Jan Neruda, can come to your aid in such a situation. This work was not chosen by chance. Neruda is an author in whose work we can find not only the magic of the old world, but also a completely timeless portrait of human characters (Arnošt Lustig wrote recently about how enthusiastic his young American students were about Neruda's writings). The publication includes a brief profile of Jan Neruda, six of his stories adapted for learners, and some brief information about house signs of old Prague. You can also find a Czech-English-German-Russian glossary and a collection of grammatical and lexical exercises for each text. There are also exercises to develop students' communication skills (before- and after-reading activities). This publication is suitable for intermediate students.

A conversational handbook designed for all intermediate to advanced students of Czech. It is for students already learning Czech who would like to perfect their speaking and sound like a native Czech. "Czech for Life" presents language material which is here to fill the long awaited gap in the market for more advanced students. It teaches students to speak flawlessly about 15 topics concerning normal situations in everyday life. The chapters like e.g. A normal family, Eat and Drink!, At the Doctors show that the textbook is focused on the practical and communicative approach. At the beginning of each chapter there are a set of opening questions which correspond to the topic and the following text and grammar exercises. The questions that go with the text check that the student understands it and tests their ability to express themselves individually. The subsequent page guides the students to speaking independently and in an appropriate way to situations which arise. The textbook offers lots of stimuli both for team work and for individuals wishing to expand their vocabulary. The listening activities (found on 2 CD) help the student to remember newly acquired phrases. The authenticity of the language is achieved by using normal spoken language, including colloquialisms. The textbook includes a key with the correct answers, transcripts, a concise overview of Czech grammar and within each chapter there is a drilling exercise and vocabulary with an English and a German translation.
